Is YOUR Subscription

Paid ?

Consult your address label on this paper—compare with calendar and if in arrears kindly remit. Addresses written in pencil generally infer paid up subscriptions not yet changed on printed mailing list. Immediately following this reminder to delinquent subscribers will be found each week a list of those paying subscriptions during the current week.

SUBSCRIBERS PAYING

DURING THE WEEK

Following are the names of those paying subscriptions to The Times during the past week:

Marshall Hill, Macleod; S. C. Metge, Macleod; Wesley Shield, Macleod; P. Strain, Macleod; John Pringle, Macleod; W. Currie, Macleod; Mrs. C. N. Campbell, Macleod.

TO SUBSCRIBERS WHO ARE IN ARREARS TO THE TIMES

FRIEND SUBSCRIBER—We wish to make to you a few statements of unadorned facts:

Paper on which to print this newspaper costs us $1200.00 per year—this is obviously some item of expense—especially when it is taken into consideration that this same print paper three years ago would not have cost more than $400.00 per year—these are strenuous times in which to publish a newspaper as all other expenses in connection with publication are increased in about the same ratio as the cost of the paper.

On The Times subscription list there are $1,800.00 in unpaid subscriptions.

We suggest to you that with print paper alone costing us $1200.00 per year it is a hard proposition to get out The Times, keep it up to a fair standard and carry credits to subscribers to the amount of $1,800.00.

Your proportion of this indebtedness is a small matter to you likely—the aggregate of $1,800.00 is a fairly large and uncomfortable matter to us. Again we suggest—that each subscriber to The Times who is in arrears comes forward promptly NOW and pays up such arrears and thus co-operates with us in giving Macleod one of the best country weeklies in Alberta.

SUBSCRIPTION NOTES

Subscribers who are in arrears will kindly bear in mind the fact that The Times last May purchased the subscription list of The Macleod News, taking on the obligation of fulfilling all paid in advance subscriptions and logically also being beneficiaries in arrears subscriptions to that paper—if in arrears to The Macleod News such arrears are payable to The Times

WARNED NOT TO AROUSE CANADA TO RETALIATE

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—The New York World this morning deals editorially with the resentment shown by Canadian newspapers over the proposed emergency tariff now being considered by the senate finance committee at Washington. It mentions specifically editorials in the Toronto World, Toronto Globe, Montreal Star, Toronto Telegram, Manitoba Free Press, Victoria Colonist and the Regina Post advocating retaliatory emergency tariffs.

"They reflect a disposition up that way to strike back," the World says. "Next to the United Kingdom," the World continues, "Canada of all other countries in the world, is our best customer. We exported to the dominion last fiscal year more than $890,000,000 worth of merchandise. We imported in return only about $537,000,000 worth. Our exports consisted chiefly of manufactures. Our imports from that quarter consist chiefly of the raw materials of manufacture. No economic proposition is simpler or more indisputable than that, if we further cripple Canada's ability to pay, we shall by the same measure reduce our present enormous export trade to Canada. And this is what the Fordney and McCumber tariff bills, preparing or prepared, aim to do, and will do.

"The folly of this legislation is even greater than this appears. Canada above all other customers of ours, is in a position to hit back. She can get more of the manufactures now bought in the United States from Great Britain just as well and a strong preferential tariff in favor of the mother country cannot fail to hit the manufacturing industry of the United States a staggering blow. And this is precisely what Canada is preparing to do if congress shall provoke the retaliation."

The World concludes: "This is not merely a bourbonism that cannot even learn that a war has been fought and the whole foreign trade of the United States radically changed. It is suicidal idiocy."—Calgary Herald.

MONTREAL SHOCKED
BY MURDER

MONTREAL, Jan. 15.—At 3:45 Friday afternoon William Holland, 49, formerly secretary of the Montreal Stock Exchange clearing house and for the past two years manager of McDougall Bros., well-known stock brokers of this city, was shot through the heart and died in a few minutes in the stock brokerage office of Gordon Strath & Co. into which he had staggered groaning:

"I'm shot! I'm shot! I'm shot!"

At 4:45 in the afternoon, Major R. N. Griffith, well known in social military and financial circles here accompanied by his brother, Dr. G. T. Griffith, and his brother-in-law Dr. J. J. McGovern, entered the headquarters of the police station of this city and gave himself up for the shooting of Holland. It is conjectured that Griffith, who was known to have sustained heavy losses on the stock exchange in recent months, may have conceived a personal enmity for Holland, and it is stated that the latter had received threatening letters from Griffith.

Had Been Acting Queer

Major Griffith is stated to have heard "voices" when on a short visit to a mountain resort near here recently, and was sent to the Homewood Sanitarium at Guelph, Ont. While on his way there he broke away from his escort, but later gave himself up. Subsequently he was released and returned to Montreal, where he was engaged in selling bonds.

Mr. Holland leaves a family of ten children and a widow. Rev. Father Daniel Holland, of Quebec, is a brother.

In surrendering at the police station, Major Griffith said: "I shot Billy Holland. What are the formalities that I must go through?"

Major R. N. Griffith, familiarly known as "Bob," came here from Sherbrooke some years ago in the service of the Eastern Townships Bank, afterwards striking out for himself in the insurance business.

Military Worker

At the outbreak of the war, the then Capt. Griffith was on local garrison duty for a period and then became assistant to the Montreal assistant provost marshal. As major Griffith was appointed inspector of cadets. He did not go overseas, being unable to pass the physical test. During the past few years Major Griffith took a keen interest in the stock market and is said to have speculated to a large extent and that he was unfortunate in his speculations, with the result that his own money was swept away. This loss caused great mental strain.—Calgary Herald.

FARMERS DECIDE UPON ENTERING
POLITICAL ARENA

BRANDON, Jan. 14.—The United Farmers of Manitoba definitely entered the provincial political arena when the annual convention today passed a resolution favoring provincial political action, and authorizing organization and preliminary steps to the drawing up of a platform. The most lively discussion which has occurred since the convention opened followed the presentation of the resolution by W. R. Wood, secretary.

No opposition to the entrance of the farmers' association into politics developed, but an attempt was made to have a committee appointed to immediately draft a platform to receive the sanction of the delegates. This did not meet with the approval of the majority, who voted in favor of a delay to allow of the district locals preparing and submitting their views as to what should constitute the platform. After hearing statements that aspirations had been cast on the board of directors as to action taken and not taken at the last provincial elections, the convention passed to them a vote of confidence.

With the wheat pool discussed and provincial political action decided upon, the convention has disposed of the most important problems before it.

This afternoon will be taken up with resolutions. The convention concludes with tonight's session.—Calgary Herald.

NEW FREIGHT
RATE EFFECTIVE
JANUARY 22nd

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—From Jan. 22 a surcharge equal to sixty per cent. of the prevailing rate of exchange, adjusted semi-monthly to meet any fluctuations in the exchange rate, will be added to the Canadian freight rate to cover international freight other than coal and coke. This surcharge will apply in all cases where the charges are payable and collected in Canada. This decision is the outcome of the conference of railways and shippers with the Board of Railway Commissioners on the subject of exchange and international freight haulage, it was announced by the Railway Association of Canada in a statement from that body. Arrangements are also being made to permit payment of charges on shipments to the United States, and also to permit shipments from the United States, other than coal and coke, to come forward with charges "to collect." Telegraphic advices will be sent to every railway agent in Canada on the fourteenth and last day of each month, stating the rate of exchange applicable for the ensuing two weeks.

Estimate Closely
"After going into the reports of all the carriers," says the Railway Association of Canada statement, "it was found that sixty per cent. of the American carriers and forty per cent. of the Canadian carriers, as is close an estimate as can be made of the general distribution of revenues between the lines north and south of the international boundary."

The statement reads: "As a result of conferences between the Board of Railway Commissioners and representatives of the shippers and Canadian and United States railway companies, a solution of the vexed question of the exchange on international shipments between Canada and the United States was finally reached. "Since the matter was discussed before the board at its sittings in December last, the railway companies have been devoting a great deal of study to the question in all its phases with a view to securing an adjustment which, while affording the Canadian lines protection necessary in respect to their revenue, would minimize the payment on this account by Canadian shippers and consignees.

Complex Situation

"Few persons other than those who have been immediately connected with the transportation business are in a position to realize the great complexity of this international rate situation. The general public do not appreciate that the present international rate structure, permitting the unfettered movement of traffic across the international boundary via practically any route which the shipper may choose, has been one of the most intricate problems which the traffic officials of the railway companies have been called upon to solve, and has only been brought to its present satisfactory condition as a result of years of study and negotiations by the carriers in the two countries. Anything which would cause disturbance in the relationship of these international rates would inevitably react most seriously upon the Canadian commercial interests."—Calgary Herald.

"Well," said the clerk, "if you want the empty bottle it'll be five cents but if you have something put in it we won't charge anything for the bottle." "Sure, that's fair enough," observed Mike. "Put in a cork."

UNEMPLOYMENT
WAR VETERANS

The provincial command of the G. W. V. A. will urge the provincial government to take immediate steps to carry out their share of the programme affecting the attempted solution of the unemployment problem this winter. At the first meeting of the new executive, held in Calgary on Sunday, the matter figured largely in the deliberations of the veterans, who were of the opinion that as the federal government and the various municipalities in Alberta had done all that lay in their power to hasten along some form of relief for the unemployed, the provincial authorities had so far failed to co-operate to any appreciable extent.—Calgary Herald.

WORK OF THE
CANADIAN FORESTRY
ASSOCIATION

Early last year the Canadian Forestry Association which has a strong group of Alberta directors entered upon a work of lasting benefit to this province by engaging Mr. A. Chibald Mitchell, formerly of Coaldale to develop public interest in tree planting and to aid the settlers in Southern Alberta in getting shelter belts started about their farms.

It is difficult to exaggerate the need of more trees on the bare areas of the prairies. The attitude of the Forestry Association is not so much sentimental as practical, for the damage done to soil and crops by unobstructed winds has drawn attention to the supreme value of tree belts for farm protection. Nothing will develop a general tree planting movement like a direct educational campaign by a well-known Alberta man such as Mr. Mitchell, with the Association's tree-planting railway car.

Last year's work was entirely financed by private subscriptions by public spirited citizens. Next week a deputation will ask the Alberta Government to share the expense of the 1921 campaign to the extent of $2,000. Considering the thousands of settlers aided by this work and the numerous municipalities which have been given unstinted aid by the Forestry Association in planning local parks and shade tree programmes, the province can easily spare the sum asked for.

BOARDING HOUSE COMEDY COMING NEXT WEEK TO THE EMPRESS THEATRE

"39 East" tells the story of Penelope Penn, daughter of an impoverished minister, who comes to New York to seek her fortune. She takes a room at the boarding house of Mrs. Je. Mailly, a typical residence at 39 East, a house which might be almost anywhere between Forty-second and Fifty-ninth Streets, with a roster of boarders who are gossip, easily shocked, and eager to maintain a prosperous "front." There she meets Napoleon Gibbs, a young man from the South, who loves her at first sight.

She has a hard time finding work, and is finally driven, much against her childhood teachings, to become a chorus girl. She does not disclose the nature of her work to the boarding house circle, thereby laying herself open to adverse criticism. Napoleon alone remains her friend, and one day when they are having a picnic at Central Park, he embraces her passionately, and she, not understanding his intentions, runs madly from him dashing into the motor car of Eddie Tillotson manager of her show. It proves a lucky incident, however, for Eddie is impressed with her and that night puts her on in place of the prima donna with whom he had quarreled.

Penelope returns to the boarding house with a roll of bills, and fine clothes, and easily wins the approval of the boarders. She also forgives Napoleon and promises to become his wife.

Constance Binney, who created the role of Penelope Penn in the Shubert production of "39 East," and played in it for two years in New York, Boston and Chicago, appears in the Real-art picture version of the play which comes to the Empress Theatre on Monday for a two day run.

Mike went to a druggist to get an empty bottle. Selecting one that answered his purpose, he asked, "How much?" "Well," said the clerk, "if you want the empty bottle it'll be five cents but if you have something put in it we won't charge anything for the bottle." "Sure, that's fair enough," observed Mike. "Put in a cork."

PLENTY OF RAIN
NEXT YEAR, SAYS
MOUNTAIN HORSE

LETHBRIDGE, Jan. 13.—Mountain Horse and his wife and family of the Blood Indian Reserve, are in the city today on business and viewing the sights of the town. Mountain Horse, who has a good education and speaks English fluently, is an overcast man and proud of it.

He says the Indians on the reserve are enjoying the mild winter, and are not worrying about a dry season following. "Old Indians, who know all about the weather say we'll have plenty of rain this year," said Mountain Horse, a broad smile radiating his genial, coppery face.—Lethbridge Herald.

CO-OPERATIVE MARKET
PLAN WILL BE LAUNCHED IN WEST

WINNIPEG, Jan. 12.—The Free Press bulletin today publishes the following:

"Plans for the establishment of the co-operative wheat and farm products selling board for the three prairie provinces will be discussed by the Manitoba government shortly, according to an announcement made by a member of the provincial cabinet today."

"The board would be composed of representatives from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta and will be mainly for the disposal of grain."

"A member of the cabinet intends to bring about government action and revive the co-operative marketing program instituted by the federal government in 1918, but it is felt the provincial government can do nothing alone."

"Whether or not the government would guarantee bonds of the board or whether shares would be sold to farmers wishing to participate would remain to be dealt with when the subject reaches an organization stage. The farmers would come in on the selling of their products entirely voluntarily. It is estimated that between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 would be required to bring about the operation of the scheme."—Lethbridge Herald.

Appropos of criticism offered in some quarters re the price The Times charges for Job Printing: A resident of this district asked lately for a quotation on the printing of 200 3x5 folders—"Times" quotation was $9.00, the customer was kind enough to show the manager a quotation from a Calgary firm which for the same work was $12.70.—Perhaps Times printing is not so high comparatively after all.

The brothers joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne" before dispersing.

HOADLEY WILL TAKE HIS SEAT ON CROSS-BENCHES

CALGARY, Jan. 13.—The Alberta says this morning: "When the Alberta legislature opens for its session this spring, George Hoadley, former leader of his majesty's loyal opposition, will be found seated upon the cross benches. He has definitely and publicly severed his connection with the Conservative opposition in the house and henceforth will stand or fall as an 'independent farmer member'."

This is the latest development in the disruption in the ranks of the Conservative party and it will not be surprising at all if several other members of the opposition follow Mr. Hoadley's lead when the house meets and slip around to the cross benches where they will bear company with the two lady members, and Captain Pearson, James Weir, Alex. Moore and Alex. Ross.—Lethbridge Herald.

WHY THE U. F. A.?

In casting about for a reason that would justify the existence of the U.F.A.—if any justification is needed—we must review the long-closed pages of the farmers' history.

We need go no further than the feudal system to find the farmer the make-shift of humanity. Worse housed, worse appointed, and worse cared for than the beasts of burden he grubbed out a miserable existence upon the acres of his liege lord, and content, if, at the end of a long day's toil, he received sufficient dole to stay starvation. In peace times the drudgery of all manual toil was dumped upon his aching shoulders, while in war time he served the pleasure of his master—was called up, maimed, or butchered off as a pawn in the game of kings.

Like conditions have existed, in a modified form, right down to the present day. I don't mean to say that a farmer of this enlightened age is liable to be called upon to shoot an apple from his son's head should he happen to come to town; neither must he bend his knee in response to the cry "Bow down, ye slave, bow down" but there are still a thousand and one ways in which the inflictions of the feudal system are levied upon the farmer.

The farmer is the one manufacturer on earth who cannot put the price on his own products.

At the very outset, he must turn in his produce to the dealer at whatever price the dealer feels disposed to put upon it; then he must purchase his supplies from the same dealer—once more at the price the dealer quotes. This is exactly as it was worked out hundreds of years ago and, then as now, the spread between the two prices was for the benefit of the overlord, not the farmer.

I have before me as I write the details of a transaction at Peace River the working out of which would seem preposterous were it not a cold fact. A widow harvested a crop made up of thirty-four hundred bushels of oats. A casual observer would consider this a tidy grubstake; but here is how it works out: the proceeds of that oat crop would pay for her new binder and leave her sixty-eight dollars of a balance. That is, if she paid nothing for seed or seedling, for twine, harvesting or any of the other minor details such as hauling her grain thirty miles to town. Put upon a bald-faced basis, that crop of oats just paid the thresh bill when sold at the elevator thirty miles away.

Such conditions may be justified by the statement that we are passing through a period of "readjustment." But we have detected nothing to indicate that "readjustment" was affecting the other commodities. The farmer's product, wool, has been forced down to the price of a plug of tobacco per pound, yet he pays a string of dollars for a pound of yarn. Readjustment has also attacked the leather trade, but at the farmer's end as usual. A steer, or a sheep pelt is barely worth the skinning, but it's twelve bucks still for a pair of shoes.

What is the answer? Simply this: That the purchasing powers of the country are organized; the manufacturers are organized; the distributors and selling departments of the trader are organized, while the farmer—well the farmer is the man that holds the sack.

Then, the solution seems simple: let the farmers organize! "Ah, yes," the wise-acre smiles, but that is an utter impossibility. Attempts have been made to organize the farmers, times out of number. Remember the Patrons of Industry? Remember the Grangers? Remember the—?"

Yes, we all remember these things, we who are old enough; and we also remember the conditions at the time. We remember that a wheel-barrow load of newspapers would cover the rural circulation of a whole province at the time the Patrons of Industry of the development of recent years, went defunct; and, view in the light we know that was but the staggering bob efforts of a calf that is long since a cow, and giving milk.

Oh yes, the Patrons of Industry have been born again. We find their "get" in the farmers' organizations which are forming and fighting today from coast to coast. And will they fail again? Let us see. Go into any Alberta farmer's home to spend the evening and notice the literature on the table. The old family Bible still holds its place—and in good company. Scattered about one will find, at least, a dozen magazines. Not all farm magazines, by a jugful! the very latest and best in periodicals. Then open those same magazines and note the contributors—many of the ablest writers on the American continent. Remember now that, as Nellie McLung says, the farmer is the most discriminating of readers, and engage your farmer friend in discussion. He will not confine himself, as would his grandfather, to the killing of pigs and the curing of pork; he will pilot you through the mysteries of foreign politics, straighten you out on the questions of reform and tariff, and wind up with a few tips on local government.

In other words, the farmer's eyes have been opened, and the object lesson may be spelled in one word—education. And for this same education he may thank, in a large measure, the farmer's magazine of the present day. But, be the medium what it may, the farmer is in the game, and there to stay. He first crowded the professional healer, out of municipal politics. He learned his first rudiments of administration there, then graduated into greater responsibility. With broader education and greater responsibilities came the evident need of organization, and organization followed as a matter of course. Once more the question arises: will the farmers' organizations fail, in accordance with the prophecies of the sages? Let us judge from the fact that agriculture is the foundation of every industry in Western Canada, that the farmer, organized or otherwise, is the dominating figure in public life today and that the people of the prairie provinces are behind the farm movement to a man on every question that affects the public weal.—Agricultural Alberta.

SCORE ONCE FOR THE DUNCE

The teacher was anxious to make a good showing before the county superintendent, so when he asked for the boy at the head of the class a question her heart was light.

"Who was the mother of the great Scottish hero, Robert Bruce?" was the query. There was no answer, so he went the rounds of the other pupils.

At last the teacher grew radiant with joy, for the boy who was standing at the foot held up his hand. "Well, my boy," said the superintendent encouragingly, "who was she?"

"Please sir, Mrs. Bruce."—Columbus Dispatch.

HE WANTS A GOAT

Father had returned from lodge and was talking about the goat which reminded his little boy.

"Papa, get me a goat," the youngster said.

"Oh, no. A goat would horn you," remarked the father.

"I'd cut his horns off."

"He'd butt you."

"Then I'd cut his buttons off. Please get me a goat."

MEETING OF CO-OPERATION COMMITTEE

Rev. Lewis on Thursday last attended a meeting of the Co-Operation Committee at High River. There were present Rev. Dr. Ferguson, Rev. T. Powell and Mr. Stanley, of High River; Revs. Dinson, Mitchell and McNichol, of the Presbyterian Church; and Revs. Lytle, Rogers, Lewis and Irving, of the Methodist Church.

The purpose of the Committee is to so arrange the work of the two denominations as to avoid overlapping of the work of the church. Great advancement has been made in the work of co-operation in the past.

Small towns and villages where two struggling denominations were striving to support divided congregations have been united and now one minister preaches to one healthy and encouraging people.

At the High River meeting utmost harmony prevailed, either church was perfectly willing to give territory to the other in order that a greater number of communities might be served.

The old unreasonable denominational lines were evidently fast breaking down, and it was confidently expressed that next June would see a vote of the Presbyterian assembly that would definitely unite the two churches that are now so closely allied in aims and form of worship. There were candid admissions of the representatives of both church of their inability to provide ministers for the many districts that had been left without the services of the church for years. In some parts there were communities that had church buildings and strong organizations that were appealing to the churches to send ministers and not allow their families to grow up without making provision for their religious life.

DOMINION HOUSE OPENS SESSION ON FEBRUARY 14th

OTTAWA, Jan. 17.—A change has been made in the date for the opening of parliament. At Friday's cabinet council the date chosen was Thursday, February 10, but this date was afterwards found to be inconvenient for some members of the cabinet, and today a special issue of the Royal Gazette contains the announcement that the date will be Monday, February 14.

There are some advantages in opening on Monday, as it enables members to be in the city in readiness over the week-end, and permits of going on with the business of the house on Tuesday without any postponement, such as an opening towards the end of the week involves.—Calgary Herald.

MACLEOD MEMORIAL FUND

A joint meeting of members of the I.O.D.E., Next-of-Kin Association and G.W.V.A. was held on Monday evening, January 17th at 7.30 p.m. in the G.W.V.A. Hall.

The following were present:

I.O.D.E.—Mrs. R. J. E. Gardiner, Mrs. J. W. McDonald, Mrs. E. Mrs. A. F. Grady, Mrs. L. R. Barnett, Whipple, Mrs. E. Edwards, Mrs. D. J. Grier, Mrs. D. W. Davis, Mrs. R. D. McNay, Mrs. J. Swinerton, Miss Wilson, Miss Patterson.

Next of Kin Association—Mrs. S. Lewis Sr., Mrs. V. R. Baker, Mrs. S. Baker, Mrs. W. O. Hoodless, Mrs. J. A. Baird, Mrs. J. W. Morrison, Mrs. T. Mackintosh, Mrs. A. Watson, Mrs. R. Dowson, Mrs. Price, Mrs. Horsberg, Mrs. J. Allen, Mrs. I. Hartley.

G.W.V.A.—J. S. Lambert, C. P. McGladdey, C. Cowan, P. T. Roberts, G. L. Pollard, T. Fallon, S. Metge, T. W. Whitefoot.

Mr. Lambert welcomed the delegation and on the motion of Comrade Pollard, seconded by Comrade Roberts, Mrs. Ina Baker was appointed chairwoman.

Comrade Cowan acted as secretary.

Mrs. Baker, on taking the chair, explained the reason for calling the meeting in the hope that the joint organizations could come to some arrangement as to the erecting of a monument to the memory of those who gave their life in the great war. The Next of Kin Association, she explained, had promised to those who donated to the fund they were working on that it would be used in erecting a monument in some prominent place in the town. They had approximately $1100 already for that purpose, but as the cost of a suitable and substantial monument was about $4000, she asked the I.O.D.E. and G.W.V.A. to unite and place the additional $1000 now in trust with these two organizations with what they have collected and further augment this by asking for subscriptions to complete the fund.

After some discussion on the subject whether the money should be used in helping to build a hall, a monument, or tablets in the school, it was moved by Mrs. Edwards, seconded by Mrs. Davis—"That the opinion of this meeting is that the memorial be in the form of a monument." This motion was carried, only 4 dissenting.

As there seemed to be some doubt in the minds of some of the I.O.D.E. members as to what use the $1000 in trust was actually placed for, and as the members present had not the power to vote away this amount it was left over until the G.W.V.A. had a meeting on Sunday 23rd January and then the president and secretary should appear at the I.O.D.E. meeting on Monday, 24th January, when a decision as to co-operating or otherwise with the Next of Kin Association in erecting the memorial, and to be finally settled at a public meeting called for that purpose.

Moved by Mrs. Whipple, seconded by Mrs. Davis, that the meeting adjourn.

DOUBLE MARRIAGE

Sunday, January 16th, 1921, was a great day in the Mennonite colony, Standoff, when at 9 a.m. a double marriage ceremony was solemnized, and two couples of their young people were wedded. After the ceremony lasting nearly two hours, the whole colony sat down to a marriage feast. These are carried out according to their way of feasts, and as their leaders say, "according to the Jewish marriage feast." After the marriage dinner, comes the drinking of the wine, their own making, then music and dancing. In the afternoon and evening other services were held at the close the newly-married men with their wives were escorted to their new homes.

HOW TO RUN A HOTEL

(The "World," New York.)
A prize of $100 was offered recently in connection with the Hotel Exposition for the best article on "How I Would Run a Hotel." Bide Dudley, the "Evening World's" columnist, won the prize with the following article:
If I were running a hotel, I would lay down these rules:

First—I would not let my relatives know it. By way of explanation I will quote a poem of my own:
There once was a man named Mondell,
Who started to run a hotel,
His aunts and his cousins,
Swooped on him by dozens,
And busted him flatter than he—
Second—As a matter of economy I'd make the Turkish bath attendant the house detective. A rubber usually is a good bouncer.

Third—I'd insist that any guest who put in a request for additional bed clothes pay a cover charge.

Fourth—I'd always have the chief clerk wear a diamond to indicate that the house is prosperous. If necessary, I'd take one of my wife's out of stock.

Fifth—I'd examine the contents of the trunks of guests desiring credit. A trunkful of bricks never bought a hotel proprietor any hand-painted pajamas yet.

Sixth—I'd never permit the guests to talk back to the waiters. Arguments in a dining room cause injured feelings and is liable to bring a roar from Local No. 777, Waiters' Union which really operates the hotel.

Seventh—I'd instruct all clerks to accept cigars offered by travelling men after telling their latest old stories. These I'd put in the cigar case to be sold back to the offending drummers, for purposes of revenge and profit.

Eighth—In operating contests, such as this contribution is entering, I'd see that the judges gave the prize to a thin cadaverous, unfortunate, married writer with two children and no coal.

WOMEN AND PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Women, long denied the right, are now in a position to take their full share in the public affairs of Canada. To be of value the voting power of course must be made use of, and that intelligently. Democracy means, as all know, the rule of the people, and for many years the just charge was made that the Canadian Government was not a democracy, but simply a manocracy, or male-ocracy, ignoring the larger and better part of the people in the franchise arrangements. Though fought for with vigor and determination, the mere attainment of the right to register the vote is of small importance. The important thing is to study and understand the problems connected with the Nation's development and its relation to other nations. It is well known that the female part of our population is better up in book-learning than the masculine population. The girls go to school longer, more steadily and study better than the boys. More book learning however is not everything, far from it indeed, and is less important than that knowledge picked-up by means of active intercourse with the world and contact with human nature. The democracy includes both divisions of the human race, but above all things it is composed of those who think and study, and thus aid in solving the problems confronting the nation. It must be kept in mind that in a democracy there is no governing class. Opportunity is open to all, and promotion and power come to those who think and apply themselves. Hitherto it may be said that up to a very recent date, all the voting was done by about one million persons in Canada and all the governing talent of the country had to be drawn from that body. By the enfranchisement of the women of the nation, another million or more have been added to the element from which voters are drawn, and thinkers and students, solvers of our public problems, legislators, orators, and intellects to advise and guide the State.

The field from which democracy can draw its wisdom and its statesmanship has been doubled; and new elements of national usefulness can be supplied from the same source that is lacking in the purely masculine elements. In the enfranchising of women the nation has not merely gained the voting power of its women; it has called into requisition their intellectual, spiritual and moral powers for the use of the State and its affairs. In such matters as the high cost of living, women have a knowledge of demand in such a thing we need her in tail which man cannot possibly have formation and her advice. Woman is the home maker, and the home is the very heart and centre of the nation. One of the greatest needs of the age is to have the spirit of the home in our laws and institutions. Too often are the interests of the home forgotten or wilfully overlooked by busy public men. The presence of women in our legislation should be a guarantee that the home will not be overlooked, and that the home problem will receive the attention their importance demands. Humane matters generally appeal more strongly to women than to men, and the presence of women in our legislatures means a humanizing of governmental methods and institutions. — Acadian Recorder.

IN JAPAN, TOO.

(Boston "Post.")

It will surely hearten the believers in the present world-wide movement looking to the reduction of national armaments to know that in Japan, which many mischievous persons in this country picture as a regular Moloch for war, the desire to cut down the present terrible expense for a big army and navy is growing steadily and among influential men.

Only the other day Baron Hayashi, the Japanese ambassador to Great Britain, when asked to express himself on the subject, said:

It is foolish and it is tragic to think of the big states of Great Britain, the United States and Japan cannot afford it.

I believe an agreement could be reached quickly if the big men of each country assembled at a round table, not as pacifists or militarists or politicians, but as business men out of whose pockets must come a large slice of money for the upkeep of navies. I think Japan is willing to enter such a conference.

The Baron might have said in addition that his country was growing weary of militarism, if his diplomatic obligations had not confined his expressed opinion and placed a curb on his voice in general. He knows that his people are tired of the heavy tax burdens that armaments are placing upon them.

The Japanese are a nation of agriculturists and shop-keepers. There is not a fertile foot of land in Nippon that is not cultivated, there are miles and miles of small shops from one end of the island to the other. The Japanese workman saves to become a merchant, for with a little shop comes independence periodical holidays for himself, his wife, and his children. He is his own master and that is the ideal life for him. So he saves his yen, for every yen saved brings a yen loaned, the stocking his store on credit and encouragement in many other ways in his enterprise.

These hundreds of thousands of small store-keepers are already in protest against war taxes. The governmental burdens are not only eating up their profits but robbing them of their cherished holiday made for a visit to some favorite shrine, and, in many instances, forcing them into bankruptcy and out of business. The Japanese is patient, but his patience ceases when he sees the savings of a life-time going and the hope for family life blurred and destroyed. The Japanese store-keepers want trade not conquest. Making their country a great power at their expense does not interest them.

The present Japanese government was put in by the agriculturist and the tillers of the soil are not militarists. So it is not surprising today that Japan is against huge armaments.

THE GIRL OF THE SEA

Back in 1913 J. E. Williamson invented what he called the Submarine Tube, a long flexible, telescope arrangement intended to be lowered from the bottom or side of a ship into the depth of the ocean for the purpose of permitting divers in a chamber at the bottom of the tube to examine wrecks in safety. At that time he had not thought of applying its use to motion pictures. But later it dawned upon him that photographs of life beneath waters had never been shown, and he got busy.

The result was "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," followed by "The Submarine Eye," which created a furore in the motion picture world when they were first produced. Now he has outdone himself and the result is "Girl of the Sea," a powerful and stirring screen drama which comes to the Empress on Wednesday and Thursday next week.

Here the audience not only gets several glimpses of the wonderful life beneath the waters and on the ocean's bed but are treated to actual dramatic action which makes up the story. For a novelty, "Girl of the Sea" outdoes anything ever before shown on the screen.

It seems almost incredible, but giant devil fish, of which much has been written and very little shown to the general public, actually contribute to the story as well as sharks and other denizens of the deep.

Miss Betty Hillburn, one of the youngest of the screen's leading ladies, has the principal role, and goes through thrilling stunts that leaves the spectators breathless. All of the action takes place in southern waters near the West Indies.

JANUARY

January is chock-full of weather. It occurs every day. A person setting forth upon a journey should take a raincoat, sweater, umbrella, ulster, Palm Beach suit, red flannel underwear and bathing suit, and then stay at home.

January is the first month of the year in which to break the fine new set of resolutions adopted on New Year's Day. Sometimes it is difficult to get them all thoroughly broken in one month. However, it is remarkable how much a person can do by trying.

Christmas bills come early in January. It is hard to realize that it is more blessed to give than receive. Christmas bills prove that while figures never lie, Christmas gives sometimes do, when telling what their gifts cost.

January is a good month to pick out the year's reading supply. There should be something for every member of the family. The evenings are long; the back-logs crackle merrily; there is no better time in all the year for a good instructive book or paper.

January is a bad month in which to see how near one can skate to a hole in the ice on a pond. One can very easily be sorry the remaining eleven months, to say nothing of the rest of a normal life-time.

Human nature is different in January from what it is in December. For some unaccountable reason boys who kept the kitchen wood-box well filled in December now talk back to their parents and can not be induced to work. They are different boys altogether. Girls are always good, no matter what the month is.

January thaws occur this month. As a rule they are very wet. Sometimes they are wetter than other times. It depends a good deal whether you are indoors or out.

The storekeeper takes an inventory in January. An inventory is something which shows that you did not make any money the past year, even if you are richer than you were. An inventory comes right ahead of income-tax time. All farmers should take inventories, too. People who are patrons of a library should never keep books. All others should.

We predict that January will be cold this year in regions where the temperature falls to a low mark. It will be warmer in sections where the temperature is higher. A good way to tell what the weather is going to be is to wait and see.

GREAT
ATTRACTIONLESLIE GROSSMITH PROMISES
BIG SUCCESS

Expectation is at a high pitch in anticipation of the performance offered by Leslie Grossmith and Party on Monday, January 24th at the Town Hall, Macleod.

A more attractive offering could hardly be conceived, including as it does a first class variety concert, an extremely funny play and a dance with special music all included on the admission ticket. It is only on rare occasions we are visited by artists of the calibre of Mr. Leslie Grossmith whose name is well known all over the world; and he will be assisted by Hugh S. Barbour, solo violinist, and Mlle. Georgette (Mrs. Leslie Grossmith) in chic songs. It is to be hoped the event will meet with the success it richly deserves.

Under the auspices of G. W. V. A.—buy your tickets in advance—20 per cent to relief fund. 46-1

THE LITTLE HOMES OF LAUGHTER

The little homes of laughter can be found on many a street,
And it's there that men and women in the bonds of friendship meet;
Oh, the mansions on the highway may be handsome to see,
And the rich man's lawn be level;
With the bloom of plant and tree,
But the glory of the nation and its strength from day to day
Are the little homes of laughter where the children romp and play.

There are millions of them smiling underneath the flag at morn—
The homes that know the bedroom where the little ones were born,
The homes without pretention, very clean and neat inside,
That know the scars of sorrow, and the room where one has died;
It's beneath these roofs of kindness and within these walls of love
Where abides the strength and courage that shall keep the flag above.

The little homes of laughter, homes the thousands know and keep,
Where the mothers crouch at evening as they rock their babes to sleep,
And the fathers in their shirt sleeves find some little task to do—
Oh, it's there you'll see the glory of the old red, white and blue;
In the little homes of laughter, standing North, South, East or West,
It is there you'll see the nation at its finest and its best.—Acadian Recorder.

RED CROSS NOTES

A Nursing Service in the Rife District, many miles north of the main line of the C.N.R., on the shore of Moose Lake, has been established this month, by the Alberta Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society. Rife is the centre of an English speaking soldier settlement, but most of the settlements to the north and east are Russian. The need for skilled nursing service has been very great and Miss A. J. Peacock, the graduate nurse in charge, will have much pioneer work to do in this remote district. She left Calgary for the north on December 8th, and arrived at her destination a week later. Miss Peacock was trained in Rhode Island Hospital. She is a Canadian, a native of New Brunswick.

Before the establishment of the Red Cross service this month the nearest point at which skilled attention of any kind could be obtained was St. Paul de Metis, and the expense of bringing in a doctor from that point was $20.00. During the past summer, the soldier settlers of the Rife District organized a district branch of the Red Cross. They have made themselves responsible for the provision of accommodation for the district nurse, and for her transportation. The Provincial Division of the Society will assist in financing.

In the Russian colonies, where there is intense poverty and ignorance the need for skilled nursing service is urgent. Miss Peacock is now teaching the Russian mothers the proper care of their children. This in itself is a most formidable task. The English speaking settlers, however, practically all the families of returned men are giving all the assistance within their power.

In behalf of the Alberta Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society an appeal for gifts of money and clothing has been made by the U.F.A. to everyone of the locals in the province. "The Red Cross Society is the most efficient and well organized body for distribution of relief in Canada."

A SCREW PROPELLED FLYING MACHINE

("Boys' Life.")

It is by no means certain that the successful air craft of the future will be the familiar aeroplane or even the dirigible balloon. Some aeronautic experts believe that the commercial aircraft of the future will be some form of helicopter. Within a few days a noted inventor, Peter Cooper Hewitt, has succeeded in building a helicopter which has actually risen from the ground and carried a man along with it and flown for a distance of one hundred yards. Small models of this form have been made in the past both in America and Europe, but this is believed to be the first which has actually carried a passenger. The first railroad locomotives and steamboats, it will be recalled, were built on very different principles than the models which finally were adopted, and it is within the range of possibilities that the same will prove true of the flying craft. A wonderful opportunity for invention is thus opened to our ingenuity.

"NOT YET"

When the cow-punchers from the Neutral Hills were in Edmonton last summer, one of them ran over a Jew, on Jasper Avenue. A policeman ran over to gather up the Israelite, and the first question he asked was:

"Are you hurt, Ikey?"
"I don't know yet," Ikey answered.
"Shoost wait till I see my lawyer."

MISTAKEN IDENTITY

SHE WON THE STAR BOARDER

Every boarding house has a "star" boarder, the landlady's pet, the waiter's delight. At "39 East" the star boarder was young Mr. Gibbs who had money. How the ladies loved him! Then along came a new boarder the girl who was looking for a job. She wanted a career—but she won Mr. Gibbs instead. Don't miss the rollicking boarding house comedy with lovely Constance Binney as the star. Coming next Monday and Tuesday to the Empress Theatre.

THE UNION BANK KEEPS PACE WITH CONDITIONS

Fifty-sixth Annual Statement Reveals Very Strong Position: Total Assets Increased $60,000,000 since 1916.

The annual report of the Union Bank of Canada is always interesting, and the report for the year ended November 30th, 1920 is no exception to the rule. Coming at a time when financial conditions are changing fairly rapidly it is gratifying to note that the bank has been able to considerably strengthen its position during the year with the result that its 1920 balance sheet is the strongest statement the bank has issued since it commenced business fifty-six years ago, in quick assets and cash holdings. The statement shows quick assets totalling $32,203,563, being equal to 54.35 per cent. of the total liabilities to the public as compared with 47.23 per cent in 1919.

The growth of savings deposits is always a satisfactory feature of a bank statement for it demonstrates the confidence of the public in the institution. During 1920 savings deposits increased nearly $1,250,000 and on November 30th totalled $85,610,464. The progress this institution is making is plainly evidenced when it is stated that savings deposits in 1916 only totalled $60,144,940. Deposits not bearing interest show an ever greater percentage of increase when compared with 1916. The following totals demonstrate the marked upward movement: 1916—$29,122,848; 1920—$49,714,051.

Two new headings appear in the statement this year which were included in 1919 under "Current Loans in Canada." One of these "Demand Loans in Canada Secured by Grain" amounting to $10,732,755.47 shows plainly that the bank has been rendering valuable services in assisting the marketing of the grain crop. The other new heading is "Loans to Governments and Municipalities" and amounts to $7,648,176.30. These items when totalled with "Current Loans and Discounts in Canada" show $88,230,716.79 or 1.96 per cent. increase over 1919.

The total assets now amount to $169,205,445 as compared with $109,040,228 in 1916—an increase of over $60,000,000. Paid up capital totals $8,000,000 and in addition the bank now has a Retained Account totalling $6,000,000. Profits earned during 1920 were on a very satisfactory basis and enabled the directors to pay a bonus of 2 per cent. to shareholders on December 1st in addition to the regular dividend at the rate of 10 per cent per annum.

During the past month or so the personnel of the Directorate has been added to by the inclusion of two prominent western business men, G. M. Black of the firm of Black & Armstrong, general financial agents, Winnipeg and D. N. Finnie, of Finnie & Murray, Ltd., Winnipeg. Mr. W. R. DAINGEROUS WIRES

Macleod Alberta, Jan. 18, 1921.
The Editor, Macleod Times,

Dear Sir:—

In view of the fact that every high wind brings wires down in the streets, all of them more or less dangerous and some of them very dangerous to life, I think it would be wise for all parents to warn their children not to touch hanging wires but leave them severely alone, this applies to the public at large. It may be well perhaps to add that in going to the rescue of a person knocked down or in any way entangled with a live wire, do not touch his skin or hoos but take hold of his clothing. The method of treatment for persons suffering from electric shock is the same as for drowning persons, that is, the application of artificial respiration.

PRICE CUTTING IS RAMPANT IN GREAT BRITAIN

(By Lydia K. Commander)
(Special Cable to The Calgary Herald from The Cross-Atlantic News Service Limited, Copyright.)

LONDON, Jan. 14.—England is in the throes of the greatest price-cutting campaign ever known. Clothing, shoes and hats are going down in prices, in some cases to below pre-war level. Canned goods, food and furniture are also in the sales lists. Tens of thousands of women, with an accompanying army of men, are bargaining. Prices of garments for both men and women in many cases are 50 per cent below manufacturing costs. Men's all wool suits are being sold by one large tailoring establishment at $19.65, and they include blue serges, indigo dyed serges and tweeds. Every one of these carries an all-wool guarantee. Men's shoes, which sold at from $15 to $18 per pair three months ago are now sold for $7.50.

"The bottom has dropped out of all demand during the past year," says the managing director of one of London's biggest stores. "This began with the money stringency in the United States. Large orders were cancelled," he continued, "with Europe when the rate of exchange rose so sharply against our continental neighbors, and there are further cancellations from the continent."

Striking Examples
"Factories and wholesale houses are thus left with huge stocks on their hands. They are faced with huge liabilities and must move the goods. They are acting on the sound business axiom 'first loss is least loss.' We retailers have lately been able to buy far below cost and to move our stocks we are adopting the same principle. England is getting back to normal again, and wholesalers are selling out at prices on this basis. Bread is cheaper, sugar is about to drop from 20 to 15 cents a pound; rice to 10 and 11 cents; jam is about to drop 4 cents a pound and the price of bacon and lard will be 6 cents lower in two or three weeks, the butchers say."

It remains only for Britain to solve her "unemployment problem" to be back again on a peace footing, though prices will never again reach the low levels at which they were before the war.—Calgary Herald.

In "Girl of the Sea" the attraction at the Empress for Wednesday and Thursday next week, the audience is taken to the bottom of the ocean where many pictures were taken through a wonderful invention known as the Submarine Tube, which enables the operator to take photographs of the wonderful life on the ocean's bed.

All of the scenes were taken in the tropics and most of them on a little island in the West Indies where the action of the story is laid. Here a girl has been cast ashore during a shipwreck years before, and has lived most of her life alone, depending on the natural resources of her surroundings for her subsistence. With the coming of a rescuing party, a live drama follows in which the girl is the central figure.

The drama is full of suspense and intense situations with thrills aplenty. They include a battle with a giant octopus, a fight in the shrouds of the ship, attempted assassination beneath the ocean, and the efforts of a band of scoundrels to get possession of the wealth that rightfully belongs to the girl.

The wonderful botanical gardens of the southern seas with their variegated inhabitants and marine life, are among the beautiful scenes shown in the photoplay, which is an entirely different production from anything shown before on the screen.

Betty Hilburn a wonderful swimmer and actress, plays the leading role and is supported by an excellent cast. Miss Hilburn, besides being a little beauty, is an actress of no mean ability and has an excellent chance to show her versatility in her latest picture.

BEER WITH MEALS IN HOTEL DINING ROOMS, B.C. PLAN

VICTORIA, Jan. 14.—(By Canadian Press)—It is reported unofficially that sale of near-liquor in British Columbia cities and villages is to be abolished, and beer of about three per cent. strength substituted. This beer will be sold in hotel dining rooms but only with meals. In intervals between regular hours of eating patrons may obtain their favorite brew in a buffet. These are among the more interesting provisions of the new legislation expected to be passed as a result of the referendum of October 20 last. Hotels are not to deal direct with breweries. The government will buy from the breweries and supply licensed hotels. Strictest regulations are proposed against sale of hard liquors in hotels.

The measure will also provide for the sale of spirituous liquors under a permit system through government liquor vendors at a cost of $5 for each permit. These permits will be available to tourists and other visitors. No provision has been made, it is stated, as to the quantity which any one person may purchase, this evidently being left to the discretion of the commission to be appointed to administer the act. This commission will be composed of three persons, to be appointed by the government.—Lethbridge Herald.

ALBERTA DISPOSES OF TWO MILLIONS GOLD BONDS MONDAY

EDMONTON, Jan. 17.—Two million dollars of Alberta government gold bonds were sold today to Wood Gundy Co. and associates, of Toronto, at a price of 96.21. Nine tenders were submitted for the bonds, the issue having been offered soon after the New Year and were opened by Hon. C. R. Mitchell, provincial treasurer, at noon. The award was made to the Toronto company on a Canadian payment basis. The A. E. Ames and Amelius Jarvis companies also of Toronto, are associated with Wood Gundy Co. in the transaction. The next best tender to that of the successful bidders was for American payment at a price of 100.11. This was made by Amelius Jarvis Co., who are also interested in the winning Canadian bid.—Calgary Herald.

"CUPID THE COWPUNCHER"

"Cupid—The Cowpuncher," the new Goldwyn picture starring Will Rogers which comes to the Empress Theatre for two days commencing Friday, is a typical Rogers vehicle. It gives the famous cowboy comedian ample opportunity to do some fancy riding, roping and good comedy. As Alec Lloyd, one of the Bar Y cowpunchers, Rogers is a favorite with the gang and has won for himself the nickname of "Cupid" through his unflinching propensity for marrying off "the boys"—the matches not always proving unalloyed happiness.

Zack Sewell (Andrew Robson) owner of the ranch, does not look upon the happy-go-luck Alec with much favor because Alec interfered when Sewell was employing a cheap city slicker posing as a doctor when his daughter Rose's baby was sick. Alec got Dr. Billy Trowbridge (Roy Laidlaw) to arrive on the scene in the nick of time—by the extremely simple device of roping Doc Simpson (Lloyd Whitlock) when the latter was bowling along the country road in his Ford. Of course Sewell was relieved to have the baby made well but his stiff-necked arrogance resented Alec's "batting in."

Sewell tells Alec his time is coming and that some day he will meet a woman whom he will want but who will scorn him. Sure enough she comes, Sewell's daughter, Macie (Helene Chadwick), fresh from an Eastern boarding school. Alec promptly falls in love with her. The cowpunchers all attend a patent medicine show where votes for the prettiest girl are sold along with bottles of "cure-all." Alec starts the ball rolling for Macie and there are exciting times when a gang of railroad men nominate "Mollie" a waitress, as their choice. Macie wins out, and everything looks rosy for Alec until Macie is bitten by the operatic bug and insists on a "career." Simpson has not been idle. He has coined a fake letter from New York, offering Macie a stage position. He plans to go along, marry Macie and get some of the Sewell property.

With the aid of the cowpunchers, Harold Johnson ("Gwyn Williams") and Sheriff Bergin (Nelson McDowell) Alec outwits him, also a bunch of hand-sharppers and in the end wins Macie for his bride.

We are still taking stock and not buying any fresh goods till the expected slump of clothing, boots, shoes, dry goods, etc., takes place. After stock taking all goods will be sold at cost. This means, in many instances, pre-war prices. The times are hard, but at these figures goods can not be bought for years at these prices however much the market drops. With less production, higher wages and machinery, coal and everything that enters into the manufacturing world, or the increased competition of foreign markets, goods will never reach the pre-war prices. In the mean time so you can economize and make your own and children's garments we have signed the agency of the Butterick Patterns. The new patterns on the Deltor System make it so easy for a girl or woman to cut and put together the most simple or intricate pattern. Call and get regularly the pattern sheets. As a woman said yesterday—"It is so remarkably easy, I can't for the life of me see how anyone could possibly make a mistake. MACLEOD COUNCIL PLANS FOR POWER PLANT ECONOMIES

At the regular meeting of Macleod Council held on Monday evening, Jan. 17th, there were present: Mayor Fawcett, Councillors Muldoon, McNichol, Morris, Gardiner, Thewlis and Secretary Brown.

Routine business of adopting minutes of previous meeting and passing of accounts having been concluded a communication from Lieut. Batterby, of the Salvation Army at Macleod, asking for use of certain of the instruments of the one-time town band was considered.

Thewlis-Muldoon — That Lieut. Batterby as officer of the Salvation Army be allowed use of E. flat bass and E. flat tenor horns and coronet on condition of proper care being taken of same and that the instruments be returned on request—Carried.

Superintendent Pearson submitted a report dealing with projected economies at the power house as follows: Macleod, Alta., Jan. 17th, 1921.

To the Mayor and Council, Town of Macleod.

Gentlemen:—

Although some very successful moves have been made in cutting down operating expenses in the power plant there still exists a possible further reduction, I therefore submit the following for your earnest consideration. Before going into the scheme in detail I will first explain the present method of operating the plant.

The gas engine which we installed last year is handling our electric light load at all times at a cost very considerably less than steam, apart from this, it is necessary to keep two boilers in service to take care of the extra pump required when fire calls are turned in, and to do our pumping during the evening when the lighting load is at its highest. The amount required at present to maintain this service is $540.00 per month and will increase during the filtering season when our water is handled twice. After giving this matter very serious consideration I would ask your consent to purchase a new pumping unit made up as follows. One eight cylinder 180 H.P. high speed marine type gas engine coupled through a friction clutch to a 1000 gallon pump also through another clutch to a 75 H.P. synchronous motor. The operation of this unit will be as follows:—during the day the motor will run the pump with the engine idle, during the evening the engine will run the pump. Through the peak load during the filtering season the motor will act as a generator, and supply the necessary current to operate the pumps in the filtration plant. The possibility of an interruption in the natural gas supply has not been overlooked, the engine will be fitted up to operate either on natural gas or gasoline, so that in any emergency the water supply of the town will be assured. I have taken the matter up with the makers of the various parts of the unit and I find that everything can be supplied to make up a pumping set that will fulfill all the requirements I have specified, such a unit will permit us to shut the boilers down and save the expense of keeping them in reserve, will leave our water supply absolutely assured and I think make our plant more efficient from the fire underwriters' point of view.

The unit I have described can be bought for approximately $10,000. We have $3,000 in hand derived from the sale of old machinery, this can be used to make the initial payment. I have approached the various parties concerned and I find that if we can take care of the freight and duty on the arrival of this machinery the balance can be arranged by giving notes for $300 per month. I estimate that after the fuel and repairs have been taken care of we would save $400 per month, this would enable us to meet the payments without trouble. I am fully aware that municipalities do not usually do their buying in this manner but as far as I can see it is the only way open to us. The gas engine we installed last year is rapidly paying for itself in fuel saving and I believe that this proposal will prove equally successful. If we proceed along these lines it will not be long before we shall have $25,000 worth of machinery in the plant fully paid for and for which our bonded indebtedness will not have been increased one dollar. After the payments have been met the profits will accrue to the utilities and will enable us to put our water mains and distribution lines in good order without borrowing money to do so. With the above objects in view I commend this proposal to your serious consideration and ask your

Nothing Like Internal Bathing for Constipation

If people only knew what Internal Bathing is doing for thousands of others there would be fewer pills and laxatives swallowed, and very much less suffering from Constipation and the accompanying Stomach and Nervous troubles resulting from it.

J. A. Darrach, Copper Cliff, Ont. writes: "I have been using your J. B. L. Cascade for the past three months, and am convinced that it is the most modern and scientific method of dealing with constipation that has ever been devised, and I will lose no opportunity to promote its use among my friends, as I can speak truthfully and enthusiastically as to its merits."

By the proper application of Nature's cure, warm water, by means of the J. B. L. Cascade, the lower intestines are kept free from all poisonous waste. Drugs force nature. Internal bathing assists her.

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, of New York a specialist on Internal Bathing, invented and perfected the J. B. L. Cascade, which has done more during the past 20 years in restoring health and lessening disease than all other means combined.

Ask A. D. Ferguson, Druggist Macleod, Alta., for booklet "Why Man of Today is Only 50 per cent. Efficient." He will also be pleased to show and explain the J. B. L. Cascade to you, or write to Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute, 163 College Street, Toronto.

sanction for the purchase of this pumping set, fully believing that it will be good business to do so.

Yours truly,

VERNON PEARSON,
Supt. Public Utilities.

After considerable discussion the council was unanimously of the opinion that Supt. Pearson's projected economies were feasible and desirable, especially in view of the precedent Mr. Pearson has already established along power house retrenchment in the installation of the gas engine now in use.

Fawcett-Morris—That Superintendent Vernon Pearson's report re purchase of pumping unit be adopted and that the action of the mayor and finance committee in directing the unit to be purchased be confirmed.—Carried.

Tenders for purchase of the old building in the vicinity of the nuisance ground were opened, the highest tender being one from M. L. Jordan, offering $52.00. Some discussion in the matter showed that the building did not amount to much as an asset to the town, and that should it remain there much longer it would likely be carted away piecemeal, and while it was felt by the council that the purchase tender was somewhat lower than the value of the property it was deemed wise to sell at that price.

Morris-Muldoon—That tender of M. L. Jordan for purchase of old building be accepted.—Carried.

It was decided that Macleod Hospital Board should be allowed the use of the old building near the sewage disposal outlet for use as supplementary to the hospital ice house should they desire it.

Muldoon-Thewlis — That Superintendent Pearson be granted use of small building now located near sewage disposal outlet for use as a garage for the town car—the written consent of A. T. Leather to be obtained for locating of same on Black estate, where Mr. Pearson is tenant, and an agreement from Mr. Leather as to moving the building off the Black estate at pleasure of Macleod Council.—Carried.

Muldoon-Thewlis—That property of town useable for pasture purposes be advertised for lease.—Carried.

Adjournment.

VULCAN FARMER IS KILLED BY A RUNAWAY TEAM

Lying dead on the roadside, with his team standing close by, the body of James White, a well known farmer in the district, was found, on Friday morning, by Peter McIntyre some three miles from the home of the deceased, eight miles north of Vulcan. At the inquest held by Coroner McNicol of Lethbridge the verdict was one of accidental death caused by a runaway team.

The late Mr. White was in the town of Vulcan on Thursday, and went to the picture show in the evening, from which he started to drive home. He had the habit when driving of putting the reins round his neck, and this he did on the occasion, the reins being found in that position when he was discovered. The team, which had run away with him before, evidently got frightened through some cause, and bolting, appear to have dragged the deceased for about a mile, with the fatal consequences resulting.—Lethbridge Herald.

A MAIL ORDER DEAL

The other day, in Oklahoma, a man went into a hardware store to buy a saw. He found the kind he wanted and asked the price. It was $1.65 the dealer said.

"Good gracious," replied the shopper, "I can buy that same saw exactly from Sears-Sawbuck, the catalogue house, for $1.35."

"That's less than I paid for it," replied the dealer, "but I will meet catalogue competition, so I'll make you that saw for $1.35 also."

"All right," said the customer, "you send it to my house and charge it to my account."

"Not on your life," replied the dealer, "No charge account on this; the mail order house don't trust you. I am simply meeting their price and terms. Fork over the cash."

The customer complied. "Now 2 cents more for the postage, and five cents for the money order," said the dealer.

"What?" "Certainly," you have to send a letter and a money order to a mail order house, you know."

The customer, inwardly raving, handed over the money.

"Now, 25 cents for express charges," said the dealer, still holding out his hand.

"Well, I'll be —," said the customer. But he paid it, saying, "Now, hand me that saw and I'll take it home myself and be rid of this foolery."

"Hand it to you? Where do you think you are? You're in Oklahoma and I'm in Chicago. You'll have to wait two weeks for that saw."

Whereupon the dealer hung the saw upon a peg and put the money in the cash drawer.

"That makes $1.67," he said. It has cost you 2 cents more and has taken two weeks longer to get than if you had bought it from your local hardware store in the first place."—Gulf Coast Lumberman, Houston, Texas, January 1, 1921.
